WHEELING, JANUARY 7, 1890.

The Republicans have a city ticket which is in every way creditable to the party, and ought to be elected. The issue is before the people. They will make their choice with their eyes open, and if the Republican candidates are not elected the Republican party will have nothing to reproach itself with.

The complete and scathing record printed in Saturday's INTELLIGENCER, of Democratic maladministration of the affairs of this city in past years—of dishonesty, rank partisanship and hypocrisy—contains a weighty lesson. Every voter ought to read it, and then read it again, and then ponder it deeply before casting his vote for city officers this month.

SOME ONE in Governor Wilson's office has been guilty of an inexcusable discourtesy toward the members of the Legislature in permitting a forecast of his message to be made public in advance of the meeting of that body. There have been times when the messages of Presidents have reached the public before their delivery to Congress, but in each instance it was through the treachery of some one through whose hands the message was obliged to pass while being printed, and was regarded as placing the President in a very embarrassing position.

How Shrewd They Are. Judge Fleming's friends have made vague charges of fraud, evidently thinking that the simple charge carried the proof with it. They rashly imagined that the Republicans would have no defense, because the latter have not been filling the air with boasts of what they intend to do. Their tactics have not been of the jingo character, but they have pursued the only sensible course under the circumstances.

In the meantime, Judge Fleming's managers, hoping to gull the public, have caused it to be published that they "seek no advantage by reason of technicalities," but are "content to rest their charges on the ground of illegal votes cast for Goff and the Republican ticket." How shrewd they fancy themselves. A writer in the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, in speaking of this point, says:

"It is no wonder that they run from technicalities, as they call them. For the same reason they will run from ballot-box tampering, and move to exclude all evidence in this regard. It is no wonder they run from all evidence proving that ballot-boxes were discarded, and two hats, one on top of the other, with a hole in the uppermost, were used instead. It is no wonder that they run from all evidence of rejecting all ballots with the name of a Republican written thereon instead of a Democrat.

"It is no wonder they run from evidence proving deliberate destruction of packages of straight Republican ballots in bundles of forty. It is no wonder they run from all evidence of such racialities, but running will not avail them. It is to be a fight to the end in the open field. Republicans will meet them on their chosen ground. Illegal voting and corruption will be shown forth to their heart's content, and rather on their side of the House.

"General Goff's presence in the city indicates that the battle will be permitted to go by default.

"He is a man who has the courage of his convictions, and in this contest he stands for more than any State issue. It means the entering wedge breaking the solid South. A crack has been made, and General Goff has been appointed to drive home the wedge. A great party expects him to reject all propositions looking to a surrender of one iota of what has been won after so hard a contest. He will be true; he can not afford to be otherwise."

Governor Wilson's Jugglery.

Governor Wilson, in his effort to be as partisan as possible, struggles with figures to show that 6,000 illegal votes were cast in this State at the recent election. According to the Register's Charleston correspondent, the inference intended to be drawn from the figures is that these votes were cast by the Republicans. The correspondent's theory is a logical one under the circumstances, for of course no one will accuse the Governor of any intention of even intimating that his party cast a single illegal vote. It does not matter that the Democratic State Committee only claims that 1,942 illegal Republican votes were cast, and that consequently the remaining 4,058 of Governor Wilson's 6,000 fraudulent votes must have come from Democrats.

Here is the Governor's extraordinary mathematical calculation. It is capable of various constructions, but the Governor intends it to be taken but one way:

"The captations of 1884 were 133,522, and the entire vote after the most active political campaign ever made in the State was 137,587. The captations in 1888 were 147,408, and the entire vote was 150,440. This shows an increase in votes in four years of 21,833, which if legitimate would indicate a population of 600,000, an increase in four years of much more than 100,000. It is certain that no such increase has taken place. It will be seen that while the captations increased 14,086, the entire vote increased 21,833. The captations are correct and conclusive proof that nearly 6,000 illegal votes were cast."

The Governor's assumption that "it is certain the population of this State has not increased 100,000 in four years" is a violent one. The probabilities are that it has increased even more than 100,000. There has been more immigration during that period than ever before; more industries have been inaugurated, and great coal fields opened up.

In the late election both parties made extra efforts to get out their full voting strength, and succeeded better than ever before, and if the vote was extraordinary large it was not surprising. There were doubtless large numbers of illegal votes cast on both sides, as there are in every election. That there were 6,000 or even 3,000 nobody believes. Gov. Wilson does not believe it. He knows that his calculations are made for a partisan purpose, and worked out by a rule that will not hold good one time in five.

If by any process it could be ascertained that 6,000 illegal votes were cast in West Virginia, what a commentary it would be on the honesty and ability of the present Democratic administration, with Governor Wilson at its head. That the Democratic authorities, with the election machinery in their own hands, and with the assistance of the Democratic federal officers, if needed, were unable to prevent the casting of six thousand fraudulent votes, is a strong argument that the Democratic party has shown itself to be grossly incompetent. The Democrats can offer no excuse for this state of affairs, for in the very counties where they allege the majority of these fraudulent votes were cast, they had the boards of commissioners and the power to reject the ballots and punish those offering them.

No such complaints were heard when the Republicans were in power in West Virginia. The moral is plain.

The Republican Candidates. By the nomination of Dr. C. F. Ulrich for Mayor the Republicans have added to a creditable and strong ticket a strong and creditable head. No objection has yet been urged against any candidate on that ticket which, rightly viewed, is not a point in his favor. It is a ticket for which Republicans can frankly appeal for the support of voters on other than partisan grounds. Dr. Ulrich is a man of high character, of becoming dignity, of experience in municipal affairs. If elected Mayor he will discharge the duties of that office with satisfaction to his constituents and honor to the city, presiding over the upper branch of Council with impartiality and dignified firmness, and holding the high prerogative of executive clemency and others of important character as a public trust, to be exercised for the general good, and not as personal perquisites to be used for the advantage of personal or party friends. We think Dr. Ulrich will be elected; we are convinced that he ought to be; and believe the people will do what is right.

HOME MATTERS.

Suggestions to Housekeepers—What to Do and What Not to Do Save Time and Trouble.

The yolk of an egg is good to keep flatirons smooth and clean. Ceilings that have been smoked with a kerosene lamp should be washed with soda water. Everyone should have eight hours' sleep, and pale, thin, nervous persons require ten, which should be taken regularly, in a well-ventilated room.

For sore or inflamed eyes, wash them in a weak solution of salt and warm water. This is also useful to remove the inflammation caused by extraneous substances in the eye. To drive away water bugs mix equal parts of pulverized borax and sugar (powdered), and sprinkle well in the places where the bugs are most numerous.

Paper walls are cleaned by being wiped down with a flannel cloth, then over a broom or brush. Then cut off a thick piece of a straw bread and rub down with this. Begin at the top and continue straight down.

To remove dust from kitchen vessels when greasing will not any will not answer; fill the vessel with water for many hours, set aside and renew the boiling water if necessary. Rub the rusty spots on your stove with sand-paper and then with sweet oil.

To clean an oil stove fill the wash-bowl two-thirds full of water, put in the pump of the stove, and let it boil with the oil and wicks, and boil until they are perfectly clean, all the forenoon if necessary. This prevents the stove's smoking and odor.

For sore throat and a hacking cough take one half-teaspoon of salt, two teaspoons of vinegar, to half a goblet of cold water (iced water preferable); sip this frequently and relief will be felt at once. This same preparation will remove nausea and settle the weakest stomach. It is also beneficial in attacks of cholera.

Ginger Sponge Cake.—One cup of molasses, one cup of butter, two cups of sugar, one cup of sour milk, three cups of flour, four eggs, two even teaspoons of soda, two even teaspoons of ginger. The more you stir it the better it is.

Mustard is the nearest approach to a universal cure-remedy for all sorts of way before a mustard plaster, and a wide range of internal inflammation, from colds and other causes may be stopped by its timely application. It is the first and best resort in threatened pneumonia, croup, and influenza, and hard coughs on the chest.

If you have more papers and magazines than you know what to do with, don't destroy them after reading, but bundle them up and send to some one not so well off as you are in this respect. The good they will do will repay a thousand fold the little expenditure of time and money it will cost to send them.

Sand dressing.—Rud to a paste the yolks of two hard-boiled eggs. Add one teaspoonful of each of mustard, pepper, salt and sugar; drop in about two table-spoonfuls of salad oil or sweet cream, add four table-spoonfuls of vinegar, more if necessary. If used for canned salmon substitute lemon juice for vinegar.

Cranberry Puff Pudding.—One egg beaten light, one cupful of sweet milk in which dissolve one teaspoonful of soda, one heaping teaspoonful of cream tartar sifted and thoroughly mixed with two cupfuls of flour and a little salt. Add one cupful of cranberries and steam one and a quarter hours. Serve with your favorite sauce.

New stove or range furniture is sometimes so much heated as to make the use of it very inconvenient. Put into rusty kettle as much hay as it will hold, fill it with water and boil many hours. At night set it aside and the next day boil it again. If it is not entirely fit for use repeat the process. It will certainly be effective.

THE CHANGE OF NAME.

An Argument in its Favor—Preston County's Boom.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR:—I quite agree with you and others who believe our State ought to bear another name. I can bear testimony to the embarrassing position a West Virginian frequently finds himself in when travelling outside the borders of the State. In at least three out of four instances when introduced as a citizen of West Virginia, our State is taken for Virginia, and such questions as these are asked:

"From the South, yes; are you far from Richmond?" "Are you still suffering from the effects of the war?" "How about the Virginia debt?" "Can you raise cotton in your section?" &c., &c.

I like the beautiful Indian name, Kanawha, and believe the proposed change would greatly benefit our State. Preston county has had a prosperous year. A large majority of our people are engaged in agricultural pursuits, and many cattle are annually sold for the eastern markets. The prices were better than last year, hence larger profits. Our town is growing slowly. We look for a more rapid development of our State for the next few years than has been made during the reign of the Democracy.

Physiology in the Public Schools.

No teacher who has made the most of his opportunities to study physiology and hygiene, since the passage of the law requiring his certificate to cover that branch, is in much danger of failing to teach the subject properly. The tests are simple enough to enable any one who has studied it but little to secure the required grade, and if he has not made the necessary use of his opportunities he is too indolent for a successful teacher of any branch.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy, at last found a certain and complete cure, and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren street, New York City, will receive the recipe free of charge.

Physicians' Confess.

All honest, conscientious physicians who give B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) a trial, frankly admit its superiority over all other blood medicines.

Dr. W. J. Adair, Rockmart, Ga., writes: "I regard B. B. B. as one of the best blood medicines."

Dr. A. H. Roscoe, Nashville, Tenn., writes: "All reports of B. B. B. are favorable, and its speedy action is truly wonderful."

Dr. J. W. Rhodes, Cantonville, Ga., writes: "I confess B. B. B. is the best and quickest medicine for rheumatism I have ever tried."

Dr. S. J. Farner, Cantonville, Ga., writes: "I cheerfully recommend B. B. B. as a fine tonic and restorative, and as a cure for all the most after their remedies offered no perceptible good."

Dr. C. H. Montgomery, Jacksonville, Ala., writes: "My mother suffered on my getting B. B. B. for her rheumatism, as she was stubbornly refused the usual remedies. She experienced immediate relief and her improvement has been truly wonderful."

A prominent physician who wishes his name not given, says: "A patient of mine whose case was a terrible one, was cured by B. B. B. He was fairly made up again and bones and terrible limbs."

"A striver in time saves nine"—if taken with "Mile-End." Yes.
